Steve Baroch Presents: Antarctica

Steve has been a photographer since his father handed him a camera while traveling through Europe when he was 9 years old. He has now traveled in 80 countries and has been on every continent – twice having visited the Antarctic.

Steve has been published in numerous magazines and calendars and has published two books. Most notably, Steve was published in 2018 with one of his photos from his 2016 Antarctic trip being published in several international “National Geographic” Online magazines and Steve being highlighted as one of Nat Geo’s “Traveler Photographers of the Year”.

Steve most enjoys wildlife and travel photography and as all of you have done, Steve has waited in snow, mud and heat waiting for “The Moment”. The thrill of “The Right Moment” has made it all worthwhile.

Steve will show us images from his travels to the Antarctic region in 2016 and 2022.

Upcoming Photo Section Meetings, Trips and Notices

Date	Event	Description
November 13th	Guest Speaker - Steve Baroch	Antarctica Note: ZOOM Meeting, not in person
December 11 th	Holiday Get Together	Details to follow – Start choosing your 6 images to share

As the CMC transitions to its new location, the Photo Section will also see major changes. After 12+ years of providing valuable monthly programs, we will be eliminating our monthly program meetings after February of next year. The Photo Section will continue as a special interest group within the CMC but annual dues will be discontinued. We will be relying on volunteers to continue leading photo hikes and outings.

For many of us it is a sad time that is tempered by gratitude and appreciation for the past opportunities to learn and improve our photography in a safe space with like-minded folks. If you wish to be on a future mailing list, be sure to activate your notifications for photography on your dashboard on the CMC website. Look for emails with information about upcoming programs in November, December, January and February.
