The Colorado Mountain Club Photography Section presents

Saturdays, May 30 and June 6, 2015

Ever wondered what's the difference between taking a snapshot and making a great photograph—one that makes you go "wow"? Then this is the class for you.

The Photography Section is again offering a basic workshop on outdoor photography—how to make great photographs, and have fun doing it!

This class is suitable for any CMC member, with any type of camera, a desire to learn, and a love of the outdoors. What is new for the novice can be a good refresher for the advanced shooter. We will touch on both the art and science (right brain / left brain) of photography, including discussions on composition, light, and point of view, as well as "what does that button do?" on your new camera. While emphasizing basic concepts, this workshop is flexible enough to accommodate all levels of outdoor photographers. Our aim is to have everyone come away with new ideas, questions answered, and great shots.

Our first day will begin with a morning session of presentations and discussion. We will then venture out, in the afternoon, for a photo walk in Golden. This will be a good time for equipment checks, resolving any remaining questions, and getting to know one another.

Our second Saturday will find us at Red Rocks Park to capture its' beautiful color, magnificent formations, and exciting wildlife.

To assure individual attention, enrollment is limited to twenty participants. The cost of the class is $40 for both days (no discount for skipping the field day). Sign up on the CMC website under "classes."
Remember: May 30 and June 6 —come join us!

Any questions may be directed to Fred Larke (course director) at fred.larke@ucdenver.edu, or to Dan Orcutt (photography section chair) at orcuttpscmc@gmail.com.
2015 Year of the Mountaineer

Year of the Mountaineer emphasizes the role of mountaineering in the Colorado Mountain Club’s past, present, and future. Created by passionate CMC members, the 2015 Year of the Mountaineer statewide initiative will host a number of events designed to motivate and engage mountaineers from every skill level.

From a broad series of guided hikes in celebration of Rocky Mountain National Park’s centennial year to global adventures of the World Summit Series, Year of the Mountaineer will be sure to inspire the mountaineer in all of us. Set to begin in the fall of 2014, the CMC looks forward to offering Club members and the Colorado public a range of events that celebrate CMC’s century-old passion for the mountains.

Rocky Mountain National Park Centennial
Discover the Park...Go Beyond the Asphalt

Join in the celebration! Officially kicking off in September 2014, CMC is celebrating the RMNP Centennial by offering member-led climbs of 100 of the 125 named peaks, hike packages totaling 100 miles in the Park, and Colorado Native Plant Master wildflower hikes in the summer of 2015. CMC members played a significant role in 1915 in the designation of RMNP as a national park. And now, because of CMC’s unique involvement 100 years ago, we are ready to celebrate the RMNP’s Centennial in CMC style.

World Summits Series
Attain your mountaineering goals

Embrace high altitude mountaineering adventures with the Colorado Mountain Club’s Year of the Mountaineer World Summit Series. In conjunction with CMC’s High Altitude Mountaineering Committee (HMAC) and Adventure Travel program, 2015 is the year to reach for a major summit and attain your mountaineering goals! We are planning itineraries for six of the Seven Summits - Mt. Kilimanjaro, Mt. Everest, Mt. Elbrus, Aconcagua, Kozciuszko, and Denali.
